

Untangled Living Backgrounder

About the company

Untangled Living is a proud Canadian company that has recently launched its premier product line: ANYWare Collection, stainless steel dishware for children. Based out of Collingwood, Ontario, Untangled Living aims to create healthy, eco-friendly products for children. Untangled is a way of living, believing and thinking consciously – making choices in our lives in full awareness and true free will. Sometimes we end up “tangled” in everyday life and our decisions. Asking questions that matter and living through the truthful answers is living consciously – a way to get untangled.

Founder and business owner Sue Volpe was born and raised in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. After university, Volpe moved to Los Angeles where she gained design and manufacturing experience. After having two children, Sue and her husband moved to Collingwood to be closer to family where they enjoy the outdoors and endless healthy lifestyle activities.

Untangled Philosophy

Untangled is essentially Sue Volpe’s expression to the world: What she wants to communicate, her way of enriching the lives of others, her way to inspire, energize and excite! Sue chooses to live life consciously, making her own way. And now she would like to invite others to join in this way of living, one step at a time.

How do we get untangled? Stay connected! Stay connected to ourselves, to our families and community and to our world. This brings us to a place of balance and bliss.

Why children products? “...because this is where it all begins. As we raise our children, let our choices be conscious. Let us be the generation to raise our kids in full awareness. Let us give this gift to ourselves and our families – the gift that brings us happiness and health. All we have is our words, our thoughts and our actions. So let’s say what we want, believe in our thoughts and run with it”, Sue Volpe.

Mission Statement

Engage in healthy choices and environmentally-conscious behaviour by embracing our communities and world around us, and raising children to make responsible decisions, to have full awareness and appreciation in happiness and health.
